

Bob Bicknell-Knight
Artist Billboard. At TRAFHOHAUS, Lutherplatz, 34117 Kassel, Germany, 11th August - 11th September.

As part of an ongoing research-based body of work, concerning Amazon Fulfillment Centres and Amazon's relationship to its human 'picker' employees, Bob Bicknell-Knight is currently producing a number of paintings, sculptures and video works depicting Amazon workers and their warehouse jobs.

Pickers are supply chain and logistics professionals responsible for filling customer orders and delivering them to the delivery dock in a manner that meets company standards for safety, security and productivity.

At TRAFHOHAUS, two photographs of original works in the series were expanded and exhibited as an artist billboard.
